

Using the site

Approximately 10 new entries are added each day

With millions of words of text, and over 7,000 URL links, manually searching will take a long time. God news: You do not have to search In order to benefit. Pick any item that takes your fancy and you will gain something from it. Everything leads to everything else.

If you are new to 5G go to the video page and jump in anywhere you like. Same thing if you are new to smart meters. They have their own video section here.

#1 – use the internal Google search box on any page. It will find relevant entries in the whole site. Dont forget to ‘see more’ for the full page.

2 Having got the page, search within it for the search term or phrase.

Press control and then F The search bar will appear either at the top or the bottom left. and type in the word(s) . Google will then highlight the chosen words in the articles.

You will find all the references even if they were added a few moments prior but you may need to scroll down to see them. Some browsers show you a small bar on the right hand side of the screen indicating the appearance of the term.

3 if you want to comment on anything, write to me editor at 5Gexposed.com

#4 – Google is showing less and less of the relevant information so if you can FORWARD information that you see either on 5G or Smart Meters then that will help me.
